Hospital in Brooklyn, where State Senator Patrick H. McCarren was operated on last night for acute appendicitis, it was stated this afternoon that he had passed a fair night. His physicians consider his condition grave because of stomach complications and are doing everything possible to prevent this.

Mr. McCarren was about Democratic headquarters all day yesterday and last evening went to his apartments in the Clarendon Hotel. Afterward he sent for his personal physician, Dr. Peter Hughes, and the latter examined the Democratic leader. "You have got it and have it bad," declared the doctor. "Got what?" asked McCarren. "Acute appendicitis," was the reply. "Well, what are you going to do about it?" asked the unperturbed Senator. "We ought to operate immediately," said the physician. "Well, what's stopping you?" demanded McCarren, and the ambulance was at once summoned to take the sick man to the hospital where the operation was at once performed.

Alt 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the physicians gave out the following bulletin: "At this hour Senator McCarren is resting easy. His temperature is 102, pulse 91."

HILL WILL HELP HEALTH BOARD

County Health Officer Gives Interview That is Like Club for City's Prosecutors.

MEAT ORDINANCE VALID

The recent misunderstanding between the members of the board of heaith and the prosecuting attorney's office over the failure of the latter to satisfy the board of health in the prosecution of cases turned over to the prosecu-tors by the board, will be dispelled. County Health Officer George E. Hill is the man who will do it. is the man who will do it.

President George E. Ober had a conference with the latter officer this morning in Attorney Hill's office. Mr.
Hill said he would be glad to help the board out of its difficulty.

Mr. Hill said this morning: "Aş county health officer I have co-ordinate jurisdiction with the prosecuting attorney in prosecuting violations of the health laws. Dr. Ober has said that the board of health has never heard from several cases turned over to the prosecuting attorney's office. to the prosecuting attorney's office.

cases turned over to the prosecutors.

"I will go over the situation with the prosecutors and we will find some means of improving on the system now existing under which business is done between the two departments. The board of health will furnish me with a list of cases of which they have not had reports and I will go over each case with the prosecutor and determine some course to be pursued.

"I do not believe there has been any negligence on the part of either Prosecuting Attorney DeLaney or his assistant, Atoorney Redden. There is just a little misunderstanding which can easily be cleared up."

Health Inspector David W. Lynch laughed at the idea that the proper evidence had not been furnished by him to the proper prosecuting attorney's office. He said: "If the board wants to leave things as they now stand, let them, I have nothing to do with it. We have the material to back of what we say."

With it. We have the material to back of what we say."

Health Commissioner George T. Kelly said that if the ordinances of the board of health were no good the board should have been informed. In regard to the meat ordinance he said that had been amended so that the penal clause was constitutional. "The position of the board is just like this," he said this morning, "we have received complaints which we have had to give to the prosecuting attorney Nothing has been done about it and the complainants come to us asking what the matter is. We are up against it. We don't know. 'All we can say is that it is in the hands of the prose-

In June 1909 while the Bridgeport team was playing with Hartford in the latter place, Mgr. O'Rourke, Mr. Clark-in, President Tracy and Supervisor of Umpires Kennedy, sat together in the grand stand. The talk turned to Luyster and Manager O'Rourke in the pres ence of the group expressed his thanks to Clarkin for releasing Luyster to him adding that were it not for Clarkin, Luyster could not have been reinstated. Complimentary remarks were made by Tracy and Kennedy and Clarkin speaking up said that it was true that he did release Luyster to Jim O'Rourke and that there was not Manager O'Rourke from the first maintained a consistent position. He refused to entertain any offer for the sale of Luyster as long as there was a chance of his getting that player to come to him and there is little doubt that Luyster would gladly have come had not some one interfered.

It should be borne in mind that the statement of O'Rourke concerning the release to him of Luyster by Clarkin was corroborated by the testimony of the president of the Connecticut league, W. J. Tracy, the supervisor of umpires, J. F. Kennedy and John Mc-Kenna catcher of the Orators.

With the testimony of all the par-ties concerned before them the Na-tional board was not long in arriving at the conclusion that Luyster was the property of Bridgeport and not of Hartford, therefore Clarkin had no right to receive the purchase money $550, and he is ordered to return that sum to the Pittsburg club which club burse Manager O'Rourke to the extent of several hundred dollars in accordance with its agreement.

BUDY OF MAN FOUND IN HARBOR

Name of Andrew Myers on Key Ring In Pocket

The body of a man, possibly Andrew Myers, that name being found on a key ring in his pocket, was found floating in the harbor this morning off the round house by Capt. Irving F. Wheeler of the schooner Benn Harris of New Haven. There is only one Andrew Myers in the city directory of Bunnell street, but he is alive and well at the present time. The body has not as yet been identified. From general appearances the victim was about 45 years of age, had a bald head, a sandy mustache and was 5 feet 9 inches in mustache, and ws 5 feet 9 inches in height. He wore a dark suit, which looked to be new, as the pockets were mustache, and was 5 feet 9 inches in bability he had been at the Danbury Fair as his pockets were filled with souvenir post cards, buttons and other articles obtainable at the fair. In this event the body could not have beer in the water over a week.

The balloon passed Lynchburg at his best. The Captain and when two trolley conductors who were subpoened witnesses in the case of Michael Dillisa, arrested last night turbance on Main street, did not get turbance on Main street and turbance on Main stre Mr. Forbes and his companion, realizing the fast time they were making thought the water might be Chesapeake Bay and the city Norfolk and judged it better to descend before the ocean was reached.

The hazy weather helped to deceive the aeronauts in this respect, and it was not until after a landing was effected that they discovered that the town was Petersburg and the water the James River.

Mr. Forbes and Mr. Fleischmann came to Richmond as soon as they could get their balloon to a railroad own pocket and give it. That person began to run when the cap turned on him and has not stopped since. At this point Superintendent Birmingham this point Superintendent Birmingham appeared at one of the doors and said: "What did you have for breakfast, George." (Continued from First Page.) Crane left Washington this afternoon, presumably for Chicago al-though he declined to state his destination. He also refused to say whether or not he believed the real reason for his dismissal was an objection by Japan to his appointment. In casting about for the real reason for this move that part of Washington which is not actually in the secret has about reached the conclusion that the Japanese government is responsible. The affairs of China and Japan are believed to be so intermingled that it might well be deemed advisable by Secretary Knox to see to it that the American diplomatic representative at Pekin should be also satisfactory to Tokio. Diplomats and politicians alike are agreed that the reasons assigned by Knox are inadequate. There was no hint in the newspaper article which Crane is said to have inspired to the effect that it was official and without the attention that it has recently rehowever, is entitled to the services of the player upon paying to the Fayette-ville management $750. DeLuxe Books, Another rare offering of fine sets. $1 worth for 25c.

This announces the most-impressive offering of fine books that ever was made in the city of

We place on sale for a limited time sets of fine books, deLuxe editions of the works of the master writers of the world, at an average of one-fourth of the original subscription prices.

These books are to be sold absolutely without any conditions. They are authorized editions, printed upon fine paper, illustrated in excellent fashion, bound in handsome dress.

Because of depression in business, book-publishers whose specialty was the getting out of fine editions have suffered heavily. Last spring we were able to offer some surprising book bargains because of this fact. But other publishers have suffered. Now we are able to offer those same sets-and in addition some sets by writers not included at that time. This rare offer brings books from the famous houses of Gebbie & Company of Philadelphia, Bigelow, Smith & Company, The Davos Press and the Nottingham and Chesterfield Societies who are reissuing the famous deLuxe sets that were formerly published by John D. Morris & Company of Philadelphia.

There are 44 authors, including men who are recognized as literary giants, men whose writings are standard literature the world over: ...

The books are splendid examples of book-making. Heavy paper of fine quality is printed from plates that are clear and clean-cut. Illustrations are of exquisite beauty. Binding is careful and includes beside cloth, silk and leather. In every detail, they are worthy of the writers whose productions have been made permanent within their

It seems almost a shame to sell such books at less than the prices they were originally put out for. But subscription-book men get altogether too much for their product.
